

John Kingston

President, McGraw Hill Financial Global Institute

As President of the Institute, Mr. Kingston manages the coordination of our global strategy for thought leadership, partnering closely with communications professionals, and subject matter experts within MHFI to guide and inform public policy debates. The Institute equips global leaders with insights to promote sustainable economic growth and job creation. Often partnering with our Corporate Responsibility team, together with leading academics, business and nonprofit organizations, they create opportunities for communities to build and grow.

Mr. Kingston assumed this role in 2015 after almost 30 years with Platts, the energy news and price reporting unit of McGraw Hill Financial. Mr. Kingston is a graduate of Washington & Lee University.